PROJECTS / PORTFOLIO - www.jeremyashcraft.me

Rocky Mountain Publishing — www.rockymountainpublishing.net

In spring 2020, I built a custom website for Rocky Mountain Publishing.

Due to the original website being built in 1995, and the original developer no longer having access to the existing database, one of the challenges I faced was porting over the existing data—a catalog of over 700+ products.

I solved this problem by creating a web scraper, which automated the process of visiting each product entry page, downloading the existing image, collecting all relevant data (names, SKUs, etc.), and outputting the results as structured data that would later be transferred to a new database.
